Foreword

The Mennonite Yearbook continues to bring together vital information to help the Mennonite Church in its daily life and witness in the congregation, the community, and around the world. It provides a snap shot, action picture of the church at the present time. This volume is designed to focus the present picture so that everyone can sense the common context out of which the Spirit of God is working to lead His people to their next steps on their pilgrimage of faith. Some historical data is included so that the present picture of the church is seen in the perspective of past decades.

This volume continues to carry out the purpose of the Yearbook—to reflect the life and structure of the Mennonite Church in North America (Lombard, Illinois). Since the North American picture is part of a larger global reality, descriptions of churches and ministries throughout the world are also included. These include those conferences with whom the Mennonite Church has fraternal ties as well as those bodies to whom the church relates as fellow participants in the World Mennonite fellowship.

In reviewing the 1977 protrait of the Mennonite Church, your attention is called to a few items: (1) The North American conference listing reflects one new district—Mennonite Christian Brotherhood. Overseas three additional ones, Kenya, Uruguay, and Mexico, have been added. (2) The Southeast Convention has taken a further step toward becoming an independent conference body. Several congregations have transferred their membership to the convention and no longer hold membership in another district conference. (3) Membership in North America has increased by 2,117 to a new high of 105,774. (See Tables II and III.) Overseas membership figures stand at 25,781. (See Tables II and VI.) The slight decrease in the overseas total arises out of the fact that the United Evangelical Church (55 congregations, 2,500 members) in the Chaco and Formosa provinces of Northern Argentina, to whom workers from the Mennonite Board of Missions relate, is no longer included. The church is independent and does not consider itself to be part of the Mennonite family. The total North American and overseas membership stands at 131,555. (4) Membership of all Mennonite bodies in North America now stands at 307,811, an all-time high. (See Table IV.) (5) Total world membership of all Mennonite bodies has reached the new high of 606,000. (See Table VII.) (6) The Christian education efforts of the North American church reached fewer students in Sunday school while the Bible school program showed a slight increase in attendance. (See Tables VIII and IX.) (7) Per-member giving increased by $18.18 to $264.75 (See Table XII.)

New features of this volume include (1) four statistical tables (XIII-XVI) that reflect the high school and college experience of Mennonite young people; (2) a fuller listing of the inter-Mennonite programs of Home Ministries Council, Council of Mennonite Colleges, Council of Mennonite Seminaries, and Council of International Ministries (formerly Council of Mission Board Secretaries); and (3) an inclusive listing of names and addresses of overseas mission workers sponsored by the Mennonite Board of Missions, Mennonite Central Committee, as well as conference and independent Mennonite mission boards. (See the Overseas Mennonite Programs.)

The staff of the Mennonite Yearbook appreciates the good cooperation and willing assistance of the hundreds of people who participated in supplying the information contained between these covers. Much time and effort were invested to insure an accurate, up-to-date record. Because of their efforts the staff is pleased to present this volume to you confident that it does reflect an accurate picture of the Mennonite Church at the present time—JEH

The Mennonite Church 1977

By Edward B. Stoltzfus
Moderator, Mennonite Church General Assembly

"On the Way with Christ" is the theme for the Mennonite General Assembly and Youth Convention to be held June 18-24, 1977, at Estes Park, Colorado. These words come from a variety of settings in the Gospel of Mark. They portray Jesus as a Man of action. He invites His disciples to participate with Him.

To be "on the way" with Jesus brings both peace and pain:

It brings peace because we believe that Jesus is the "One sent from God." He is our Savior from sin, the Lord of the church and the world, our bread and wine of eternal life, and our example of suffering servanthood in the world.

But our walk with Jesus brings us pain and uncertainty too. Mark 10:32 ff. flashes before us a dramatic picture of Jesus with His disciples. Jesus is walking ahead of His disciples, His face set firmly toward Jerusalem, a city of growing rage against Him. The disciples are "amazed" and "afraid" because of the direction He is taking them. They have a right to be concerned, for they may fall on hard times if they follow Him into Jerusalem. But they follow Him anyway.

As with the disciples, the Mennonite Church is "on the way" with Christ in 1977. He brings us great joy by the many signs of His presence and work in our midst. But like the disciples we are also amazed and afraid as we try to walk on the way with Him.

Our church is "on the Way" with Christ in allowing His will to be perceived in our midst.

Historically our congregations have believed that God's will was embodied in the best of our cultural tradition as we read the Bible from that perspective. During the past 50 years our fairly closed communities were split open. This happened through the increased commercial and educational interaction of our people with the larger society as well as with our intentional evangelistic, relief, and service penetration into the world community.

In these activities we discovered that the world was big, and that the social structures which shape the life of the society were complex. We also learned that whether we liked it or not we were a part of those structures and that larger society. We found this to be true while we claimed to be "separated from the world" as a community of God's people.

In this interlocked social context we seek to find the will of Jesus. But His will seems to be more difficult to perceive than formerly, and the answers seem less clear than those we once felt confident to declare. This does not mean Jesus is no longer leading us nor that we wish to be less obedient. Rather, we are confident of His guidance but at the same time amazed, afraid, humbled, searching, yet determined to follow him in the obedience of discipleship.

Our church is "on the way" with Christ in the conviction that His Holy Spirit and the Bible are crucial realities for discovering our calling, identity, and mission.

Our congregations have been studying the two reports recommended to them by the 1975 General Assembly: The Holy Spirit in the Life of the Church and Biblical Interpretation in the Life of the Church. The first study reminded us that the church is the creation of the Holy Spirit, thus the church must wait on the Spirit and allow Him to do what He will with her. The Holy Spirit seeks to shape the church into the pattern of Jesus' continuing incarnation in the world. The Spirit's work amazes us and creates fear in us on occasion. But we seek, above all else, to be filled with the Spirit of Jesus.

The second study showed us that we are to be a people of "the Book." The Bible is our normative source for understanding and interpreting the Christian faith. But we are learning that the message of this Book, God's good gift to us, is rooted in history, man's history. This means, if we are to hear, respond, and be guided by its truth, that we must read and interpret it in the context of the history from which it springs.

This, too, can amaze and frighten us, but we are resolved to give ourselves even more conscientiously to the study of the Bible and to be guided by it in our discipleship.

In this connection we have good help coming this year. The Foundation Series, a new Sunday School curriculum, built upon the biblical message and written out of Anabaptist-Mennonite theological understandings, will be introduced to the church by the Mennonite Publishing House and the Board of Congregational Ministries. As congregations, let us receive and utilize this new curriculum with great joy.

Our church is "on the way" with Christ in understanding the way our congregations relate to our churchwide boards, institutions, and agencies.

For much of the twentieth century, general church boards, agencies, and colleges provided effective leadership, theological direction, and spiritual challenge to our congregations. They helped focus our self-understanding and mission. They are still doing this, for which we are grateful. Now a new dimension has entered the picture.

Since the 1960s we have been saying that the congregation is the primary reality through which Christ is at work. Now congregations are taking this message seriously. They are developing a vision and ministry for their own communities. One practical result of this trend is that congregations are utilizing a much larger share of their financial resources for their local mission and are therefore giving a lower percentage of their funds to denominational work.

This development has caused some consternation among the churchwide boards who need more contributed funds to do the work they believe they are called to do. We should not overreact during this period of realignment. Congregations are not saying to the churchwide agencies, "We have no need of you"; rather they are saying, "We will be using a larger share of our congregation's giving to work in our local communities as we continue to contribute to our churchwide work."

Nevertheless, we do not now have a satisfactory theology from which to evaluate the role of organization and structure in the denomination (and in the larger community) in relation to the reality called "church." This work needs to be done, particularly since the development of institutions has been a major characteristic of modern Mennonite church life.

One can affirm theologically the basic role of the congregation in the purposes of God along with the role of those churchwide structures who assist congregations in their ministry. Here, too, Jesus walked ahead of us. Let us rise up and walk with Him.

Our church is "on the way" with Christ in our use of money.

Not too long ago our wealth was very modest. As tillers of the soil, we developed frugal attitudes toward the small amount of money we had.

Now we are rich. But we do not know how to react to our riches. As Christ's followers, shall we be embarrassed by them, be glad for them, hoard them, use them to make more money, give them away?

Jesus was skeptical of riches, to say the least. In one line of His teaching He was absolute in rejecting wealth. He said to the rich man, "Sell what you have and give to the poor . . . then come and follow me" (Matthew 19:21). On another occasion He said, "Make no plans for tomorrow, let tomorrow take care of itself" (Matthew 6:34). But in another line of His teaching Jesus does not absolutely reject wealth. Wealth is considered a gift of God. His disciples are to be stewards, trustees, of those things placed in their responsibility. The disciple community is to continue to inspire each other to give a tithe for the work of the church. As Mennonites we have taken the second line of teaching.

There was a strong burst of conviction concerning stewardship and the practice of tithing throughout the church in the 1950s following the teaching of Milo Kauffman and others. This conviction may be stalled at the present time. In 1975, Mennonite Church members gave an average of $264.75 per member to the total church program. Ivan Kauffmann, the gatherer of statistics on Mennonite Church giving, comments, "It appears that Mennonite Church members are contributing only about 4½ percent of their income through the local congregation for the work of the kingdom."

We can be especially grateful that Mennonite Mutual Aid has continued to encourage the practice of mutual aid in economic relationships among us. Their programs to share the costs of medical aid and hospitalization have been particularly helpful throughout the brotherhood.

Are we "on the way" in following Christ in the use of our money? Perhaps in this are ve should have more "amazement and fear" of the way Christ would lead us. It would be ragic to be captured by the spirit of covetousness, for covetousness is idolatry.

Our church is "on the way" with Christ in its evangelizing and congregation-building ministry.

Our mission boards have led us into a witness which builds congregations in many countries around the world. How can we be more effective in establishing new congregations in Canada and the United States? Our members move to every corner in North America. Is there a way we can encourage our brothers and sisters to begin new centers of worship and witness where they are? Can congregations emerge only if there is enough money to support a pastor and maintain a building? Is the development of congregations limited by money? This isn't a requirement according to the New Testament nor is it necessary from the perspective of Mennonite theology or church policy. The limiting factor is our lack of creative encouragement to these persons.

Does it amaze or frighten us to think about church growth in this way? Christ would lead us to become more creatively effective in planting congregations in United States and Canada. Let us follow Him.

Our church is "on the way" with Christ in our service activities.

We have believed deeply that we are to serve human needs "in the name of Christ." For many years we concentrated on relief operations which supplied basic necessities to meet immediate human needs. Then we began to ask: What causes these needs? What should we do so that the non-emergency, desperation relief activities are not required? This has forced us to consider fundamental social problems in society and ask how we should work with the larger society in addressing these issues in our community development work.

These questions amaze and frighten us. We are not skilled in these areas. Is this the church's ministry, too? Again, Christ walks before us to lead us. Let us not reject Him.

Our church is "on the way" in its witness to the love of God in Christ.

We have believed that Christians are to love as Jesus loved, to forgive as He forgave, to suffer as He suffered. Therefore we said it was impossible to be an integral part of any country's military machine. We called this position nonresistance from the words of Matthew 5:39: "Resist not evil." We continue to believe this but our attention is now being drawn to one of the Beatitudes of Jesus. He said, "Blessed are the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God" (Matthew 5:9). Peacemakers. That is a more active, aggressive role than nonresistance.

How shall we become peacemakers in a broken and warring society? A peacemaker stands between those parties who are in conflict. Do we have the inner spiritual resources, the empathetic skills and the conviction to follow Christ in peacemaking? Again this call of Christ surprises us. But again, He stalks ahead and bids His people to follow.

"On the way" with Christ in 1977.

1977 is a year of opportunity for the Mennonite Church. It will certainly be a year of amazement, as well as fear on occasion. Let us lift up our eyes, open our ears, and respond obediently with our hearts, for as we do, behold, we will see the Master, striding purposefully ahead, bidding us in love and grace, "Fear not. . . . Follow me. . . . I will make you to become. . . ."

Mennonite Church Regional Boundarie

Regional Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite congregations according to the region in which they are located. Within each region congregations are listed alphabetically by state/province and city. This directory includes all the Mennonite congregations which are listed in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Most of these congregations are members of district conferences; however, some ("Unaffiliated Mennonite Congregations") are not related to any district or conference. Most participate in the regional activities and send delegates to the General Assembly; however, some do not. These factors are noted at the beginning of each regional listing.

Regional geographical areas, officers, and committees, as well as a summary of the conference affiliation of congregations, are noted with each region. Information regarding district conference organizations, bishops/overseers/and congregations is found in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" section of this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the meetinghouse of the congregation. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to locate or call the meetinghouse. Note that the location of the meetinghouse is not a mailing address. All mail should be directed to the first person listed under that congregation in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Persons desiring to get in touch with the pastor, or contact person of a congregation, should follow the information provided in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or there is data missing, please provide full information to the Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683. # Conference and District Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite conferences alphabetically by name of conference or district. Within each conference, congregations are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. Note one exception: Within the Conservative Mennonite Conference congregations are listed alphabetically by country and state. Within each state congregations are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. A few of the conferences and districts do not participate with regional planning groups nor send delegates to the General Assembly. Note that the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church and the Beachy Amish are listed in separate directories later in this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information needed to contact one person (pastor or contact person) for a given congregation by mail or phone without needing to consult other sections of the Yearbook. This person is noted with a number 1 after the ministerial status code. Ordained persons who carry active responsibility in the congregation are also listed with each congregation. These carry a number 2. Ordained persons retired or without congregational responsibility are listed in paragraphs with the respective conference and district organizations. Ordained persons who carry district, conference, or churchwide responsibilities in addition to congregational duties are designated by the number 5. Ordained persons serving as chaplains and missionaries are listed in the "Ministerial Directory" only. Note one exception in the listing of "Unaffiliated Congregations," where all ordained persons are listed with each congregation regardless of their ministerial status.

The address and telephone number listed is that of the pastor or contact person, not the meetinghouse. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Regional Directory of Congregations" section of this volume. An example of a complete congregational listing is as follows:

| name of congregation | cong. number | cong. code | dist. conf. cross ref. no. | city, state/province | region | cong. members |

Church Communities

Church communities is a broad designation for the house churches and intentional communities within the Anabaptist-Mennonite movement. Communities listed relate in a variety of ways to the Mennonite Church, as well as other churches and movements. Leadership patterns vary from one community to another. Most communities follow a multiple-shared pattern of leadership. However, in the listing below the name of only one person is listed with each community in order to provide a point of contact with the community. It does not attempt to reflect the leadership pattern of the communities.

Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches

(Related to Mennonite Church)

This directory lists overseas conferences which emerged out of mission work conducted by the Mennonite Board of Missions as well as district and conference mission boards. These conferences, though independent, maintain continuing fraternal ties to the Mennonite Church in North America.

The conferences are listed alphabetically by name of conference. Within each conference the congregations are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. With each congregation is listed the name of the pastor or leader. Only one name is included. Other persons active in the leadership of the congregation are included in the Ministerial Directory. A complete congregational listing would include the following: (See beginning of "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" for explanation of status of pastor/leader. Note that the geographical location of the meetinghouse is not a mailing address. Address all correspondence in the name of the pastor or leader whose address is found in the Ministerial Directory of this volume.)

Literature for Our Common Faith

The Legacy of Michael Sattler edited by John H. Yoder

Contains the text of the first Anabaptist Confession of Faith (the Schleitheim Brotherly Union of 1527), along with excellent background information which places this most important Confession in its historical and theological setting. Also includes other writings of the significant Anabaptist thinker and martyr, Michael Sattler. The volume is central in understanding the idea and setting of the Mennonite faith. Herald Press, 1973, $9.95.

These People Mine by Merle Good

Within a handful of beautiful vignettes, the author sketches poetically and dramatically the whole spectrum of Anabaptist and Mennonite history. One vignette is an eloquent testimonial, "The Birth at Schleitheim" sometimes called the "miracle of the Mennonite Church." Herald Press, 1973, $1.25 (paperback).

Pilgrim Aflame by Myron S. Augsburger

The story of Michael Sattler, and the Schleitheim Meeting, written in fictionalized form, but based on the historical data. For those who like to read their history in novel form. Herald Press, 1967, $4.95.

Conrad Grebel's Programmatic Letters of 1524 edited by J. C. Wenger

Here is the first synthesis of Anabaptist thought, containing the kernel ideas of what later would be incorporated into the Schleitheim Confession. Herald Press, 1970, $5.00 (paperback).

The Early Christians: After the Death of the Apostles edited by Eberhard Arnold

Apostolic and post-Apostolic Era documents of a church (AD 80-200) under persecution. Warm and substantial testimonials of faith written by Christian disciples. The volume adds to our understanding of the early church, in many ways similar to the brotherhood—church of 16th-century Anabaptism. A powerful, interpretive essay introduces the text. Plough Publishing, 1970, $12.50.

Kingdom, Cross, and Community: Essays on Mennonite Themes in Honor of Guy F. Hershberger edited by John Richard Burkholder and Calvin Redekop

The most recent attempt to test the winds and discern the Mennonite vision and direction at the present time in those areas where disciple meets disciple, and church meets world. A companion volume to the distinguished classic, The Recovery of the Anabaptist edited by Guy F. Hershberger (Herald Press, 1957, $6.95), both of which are concerned with the nature of our faith and life, within a close believing community of disciples based upon a common faith and experience. Herald Press, 1976, $12.95.

Mennonite by Hubert L. Brown

[illegible] the nature of our faith and life, within a close believing community of disciples [illegible] an affirmation of a common Mennonite faith and its expression in life [illegible] 1976, $3.95 (paperback).

[illegible] local religious bookstores.
